

INDIANA AND MICHIGAN STATE HAPPENINGS

WOULD EXTEND TIME OF SHOOTING SEASON

Pressure Will be Brought on Federal Bureau of Biological Survey.

International News Service: INDIANAPOLIS, April 21.—Concerted efforts at the present time and by all the sportsmen of Indiana may result in the federal bureau of biological survey permitting the extension of the season for killing migratory birds and an adjustment of the open season in other sections of the country so the sportsmen of Indiana will not be victims of an injustice. This was the word passed out by F. C. Shireman state fish and game commissioner today, following a visit of one of the officials to Indiana. Shireman is anxious that the sportsmen get together to assist themselves to more opportunity to enjoy the desired duck shooting.

At the present time the federal law relative to migratory birds permits a shooting season, or an open season, which extends from Sept. 1 to Dec. 16 of each year. The Indiana law permits a shooting season which extends from Sept. 1 to April 15, but the federal law takes precedent in this case, as in all others. Indiana sportsmen must obey the federal law.

Shireman says the federal law almost eliminates duck shooting in Indiana. The birds on their way south in early fall do not stop in Indiana unless it is a particularly rainy season. They pass over the state in such a hurry there is little opportunity for the sportsmen. They do not return until the opportunity to shoot them in Indiana is covered with the possibility of a jail sentence.

There has been a fight for years by the sportsmen of the state for an open season which would extend to April. Shireman has been told that concerted effort on the part of the sportsmen throughout the state may result in the extension of the open season until March 15. This would help some.

Most Prepare Petition.—Shireman wants the sportsmen of the state to prepare petitions to the state department at once and mail them to him at the state capital. If interest is manifested, as he expects it to be, he will send the petitions to Washington.

There is another possibility in the petitions. At the present time the federal law permits shooting throughout the south at just the time the ducks are arriving and staying in that part of the country. For three months the ducks are slaughtered by the hunters in the south and thus sportsmen of Indiana

RED HEADS ARE PLANNING REUNION

News-Times Special Service: ALEXANDRIA, Ind., April 21.—Shades of the Sahara desert? Guess what is going to happen in Indiana if the present plans do not go astray? The red headed folk of the Hoosier state are going to organize—they are going to form the Red Head Association of Indiana. There will be no capital stock and no bond issue.

"Purely a social organization to unite the fiery headed clan at least once a year," explained on red headed man who is taking an interest in the organization. It is planned to hold the first reunion at Indianapolis some time during the summer. provided the right kind of spirit is manifested by red headed folk in the various cities over the state.

are made victims to permit all the pleasure to be given to those who go south in the winter. The petition presented to Shireman may have an effect on this, reducing the season in the south to one month, and if this is done the sport will be better here.

Get your petitions ready and forward them to Shireman.

WINS CITIZENSHIP FIGHT

Woman Legalized Married by Ceremony on International Bridge.

HAMMOND, Ind., April 21.—Mrs. Zanieb Ameen, Abraham, wife of Joseph Abraham of Michigan City, has won a remarkable fight for her citizenship. She formerly was the wife of Mohamed Ajami, and was deported three times.

After an old country divorce, she married Abraham last December in El Paso, Tex., and about that time Ajami brought out here for divorce, which was granted last month.

Almost immediately after Zanieb's marriage to Abraham, government authorities seized the bride and held her at the immigration headquarters in Texas, intending to deport her.

Abraham supplied bond of $1,000, and meeting her at the detention headquarters, Abraham accompanied her across the bridge leading from Mexico into El Paso, Tex., and at the Texas end of the bridge they were married again by a justice of the peace, April 1.

When Zanieb appeared before Judge T. S. Maxey of the United States district court, for the district of western Texas, she was able to show a legal marriage to an American citizen, and the court ordered her release. The couple has just returned to their home.

RISKS HIS LIFE TO SAVE CRAZED GIRL

Alpena Woman Tries to Leap From Auto Speeding 40 Miles an Hour.

News-Times Special Service: ST. JOSEPH, Mich., April 21.—Chief Deputy Dewlin Fisher's life was held in an uncertain balance when, driving along a country road, side in a five-passenger Ford, hitting up a 40-mile gait, a girl, Minnie Kress, 20 years old, demented daughter of John Kress of Alpena, Mich., in a hysterical effort to leap from the car, caused it to plunge within a foot of a steep embankment. Fisher risked his own life to save the girl, who was ready for a plunge, which meant certain death. With great self control he managed the speeding car with one hand and grabbed her with the other.

The girl ran away from her home last week. On Saturday she made application for admittance to the House of David colony here, but was refused because of her apparent mental state. She was taken in at Coima, seven miles north, Saturday night, by officials, but made her getaway during the night from her hotel jail room. She remained out of doors in a blinding rain all Saturday night.

Deputy Fisher, who was the first mate on the ill-fated Eastland, was called to hunt her. He overtook the woman a short distance south of here, and pretending that he was sent by the House of David, coaxed along until she attempted the plunge. He informed her that he had just joined the colony and she rode quietly along until she attempted the plunge. Officials from Alpena are on the way to take her home to her parents.

News-Times Special Service: MUSKEGON, Mich., April 21.—Charging one of his partners, James Roufas, formerly of Grand Rapids, with the embezzlement from the co-partnership of which they were both members during a period extending almost four years, John H. Priggois filed a bill in equity asking for an accounting and petitioning for an immediate injunction to halt Roufas from withdrawing from local banks funds which he had deposited to his personal account. Roufas, the bill sets up, was convicted of the criminal charge of embezzlement in Grand Rapids Feb. 1, 1913.

CONVICT GETS LODGING

Escaped Traverse City Man is Still at Large.

News-Times Special Service: PETOSKEY, Mich., April 21.—That Harry Powers, the escaped inmate of the Traverse City jail, was in Petoskey this week and was at the home of one of the well known families of the city who didn't know who he was, became evident by comparing pictures of Powers.

He was also given 50 cents for a night's lodging as the night was cold. Powers went to Charlevoix and from there doubled back to Bay shore, where officers are searching for him. Sheriff Campbell of Traverse City, with Sheriff Purple of Petoskey and Sheriff Novake of Charlevoix and a posse of deputies are searching the country for him with bloodhounds.

Powers knows northern Michigan like a book and will probably be hard to capture.

Morris Atwood Loses Fight For His Freedom.

News-Times Special Service: GRAND HAVEN, Mich., April 21.—Morris Atwood, who in 1913 was convicted on the charge of having murdered his wife, was sentenced to from four to 14 years in the Ionia reformatory, and to pay the costs of the case, amounting to $500. The case had been appealed to the supreme court twice during the time that Atwood was convicted and both times the court refused to grant a new trial. In passing sentence Judge Gross stipulated that in case the costs of the case were paid within four years, Atwood could be released on parole. If the costs are not paid, he is to serve six years.

He will be taken to the Ionia institution in a few days.

SAYS ALLIES PAY $200 FOR MULES

Ranches in West Specialize in This Industry Says Caretaker.

News-Times Special Service: ELKHART, April 21.—That purchasing agents for the allies were paying from $125 to $200 each for mules was the assertion of a caretaker accompanying three carloads of the big eared animals which passed through Elkhart Thursday afternoon.

The caretaker declared that many of the big ranches in the west were "specializing" in mules in preference to cattle and horses because mules were much easier to raise.

James C. Grames, who conducted a transfer line, died Wednesday night, after an illness of five weeks from liver and stomach ailments. Mr. Grames was born on July 4, 1876. He was a private in Co. F of the 160th Indiana regiment under Capt. F. E. Derr of Fort Wayne, and his only son, Claude Grames, is a soldier of the United States coast artillery. The son arrived here from Fort Totten, Long Island, last Tuesday night, in response to a message telling of his father's serious condition.

Mr. Grames is also survived by his wife, Ida Grames; his mother, Mrs. Martha E. Grames, who lives on a farm a few miles east of Elkhart; a brother, William Grames, who lives on his mother's farm, and a sister, Mrs. Oscar Schaefer of Goshen av.

M. L. Robbins of the grocery firm of Robbins & Swinehart, 205-207 S. Main st., will retire from the firm on June 1, having sold his interest to Eugene Swinehart, the junior partner. Wilbur Tempin, who was elected chairman of the Century club's public service board, declined to accept the position. He said that as he was president of the Elkhart Merchants' association it would hardly be fitting for him to hold the more or less related office in the public service board's organization, even if he had the requisite time to devote to the leadership of the public service board.

J. M. L. Gowing, 66 years old, who for 17 years was bailiff of the Elkhart circuit court, died Wednesday night at his home in Goshen. Death was due to heart disease from which he had suffered since Jan. 11. Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 2:30 o'clock Sunday. Warning!
To the People of Indiana

Take notice that the fake water glass test of baking powder is now being used in your state. This test has been condemned as a fraud by the U. S. Government authorities. The pure food officials have resolved against it.

The fake water glass test is only used by baking powder companies who put albumen, (sometimes called white of egg), into their baking powder. That is what albumen does in baking powder—makes possible the fake water glass test. Glue, mucilage, or soap will do the same thing.

No good baking powder needs to be doped with albumen, glue, mucilage or soap.

Read the label before you buy baking powder—not after—Beware of any baking powder if the label reads egg or "dried white of eggs." Such baking powder contains albumen and has been forbidden to be sold in some states.

Do not be deceived by house to house canvassers with their so-called "tests"—stick to your old reliable brand. If their brand is better why do they resort to tricks and deceit to get you to change?
